

FOCUS ON CHILDREN

FOCUS ON CHILDREN

An individual or team event, recognizes participants who use Family and Consumer Sciences skills to plan and conduct a child development project that has a positive impact on children and the community. Child development encompasses birth through adolescence. Participants must prepare a display and an oral presentation.

ELIGIBILITY & GENERAL INFORMATION

1. Review “Eligibility and General Rules for All Levels of Competition” on page 8 prior to event planning and preparation.
2. Participant(s) are encouraged to bring fully charged electronic devices such as laptops, tablets, etc., to use for audiovisual presentation at competitions.
3. Items within the display may be used as in-hand visuals during the oral presentation, but must be returned within display dimensions when finished.
4. Chapters with multiple entries in this event must submit different projects for each entry. All projects must be developed and completed during a one-year span beginning July 1 and ending June 30 of the school year before the National Leadership Conference (NLC) and must be the work of the participant(s) only.
5. National Leadership Conference (NLC) participants are required to view the online orientation video and submit the STAR Events Online Orientation Form by the deadline. The video and form will be on the FCCLA Student Portal and can be found under Surveys Applications. Only one form per entry is required. Contact your State Adviser for orientation procedures for competitions held prior to the National Leadership Conference (NLC).
6. Participants who do not follow the event guidelines or the definition of the event, their project will not be considered for evaluation. However, the participant can still participate in the competition by giving an oral presentation and will only be evaluated based on that presentation.

PARTICIPANT TESTIMONIALS

“We invited the kindergarten students that attend the local elementary school to make Christmas cookies with us. While in the Culinary Arts room we taught them about germs, why it is important to wash your hands, and how germs spread. We used age appropriate activities and songs.” – Florida FCCLA Members

“In our child development classes we have been studying about the social-emotional challenges faced by children growing up in today’s technological world. We decided to develop a series of lessons aimed at preschool children that focused on the concept of friendship. We read books, taught songs, and had children participate in hands-on activities that were aimed at qualities of healthy relationships: kind words, taking turns, and cooperation. We created a display to showcase our project.” –Kansas FCCLA Members

“Our project focuses on helping first graders at a local elementary school understand the process of growing plants, because we think it’s important for kids to foster a connection with nature from a young age. We created our own book to teach them about what plants need to grow in story format, made a word search worksheet to go along with the book, and helped the kids contribute to a “classroom garden” by allowing them to plant seeds. Our goal for the kids to continue caring for the classroom gardens as the flowers they planted grow.” –North Carolina FCCLA Members

“For our project, we visited students in grades Pre-K through 1st to teach them about car seat safety. We watched a video, read a book, and discussed the importance of general car safety. We provided handouts for the parents from our local hospital. We also encouraged kids to remember that ‘every time you step into a car, buckle up!’” –Indiana FCCLA Members
